Institute of Philosophy,
Nicolaus Copernicus University

Call for Papers

The Austrian Economics Meeting Europe is an annual conference which provides a forum for scholars in the Austrian tradition to present their current research, as well as exchange and debate their ideas. The meeting is an interdisciplinary conference, and as such, there is no set theme or field of study for submissions, as long as they stand broadly in the Austrian tradition. An overview of previous presentations can be on our website (<http://www.aem-europe.com>).

The next meeting will be held at Nicolaus Copernicus University in Torun, Poland, on May 15 to May 18, 2025. We invite scholars who are interested in presenting their research at the meeting to send us abstracts of their papers. We especially encourage submissions by graduate students and early career researchers.

Deadline for submission of paper proposals:

March 31, 2025

Paper proposals can be sent to kisrael@uco.fr
